

Beware of the False Conservatives

A few evenings ago, I heard an interview on the Michael Savage show that was both encouraging and made me wary at the same time. He interviewed Texas Gov. Rick Perry. In this interview, it was made known that the Texas Legislature would pass their 10th Amendment Resolution and that the Gov. would sign it. This is both good news and bad news.

While it is good news that this resolution will pass and that the people of Texas have made a big enough of an issue out of it to force this through, we must still be very wary of what is going on here. If you would have heard this interview and if you know anything about Rick Perry you would understand why.

Rick Perry sounded like a constitutionalist last evening on the radio. He praised the move by the legislature to pass this and assured the listening audience that he would sign it. Savage even said (paraphrased), "I don't want to jump the gun here, but we need a good Republican like Rick Perry in the White House."

The problem with this is that Gov. Perry has a globalist background. He has attended the infamous Bilderberg meetings and has been a great proponent of the North American Union. The Bilderburgers are at the folks at the highest level of the "New World Order" conspiracy. Check out this video clip...

It is very interesting that he was scheduled to speak the elite in 2007 about "State and Federal Relations". He now is trying to pose as a leader of the states rights movement by endorsing and signing the 10th amendment resolution. He has gone as far as bring secession into the discussion. Texans need to be aware that this man is an Establishment demagogue and agent, put in place to discredit a healthy move by the State of Texas legislators to limit the power of the National Government. Now it is being slandered in the "Liberal" media as a crazy Governor that wants civil war. Here is one of a handful I have been able to find on the internet.

This type of set up is a perfect example of how the Establishment keeps good people that want freedom trapped in the deadly game of Socialism vs. Socialism.

Unfortunately, this is not the only trend that I see moving in this direction. There are others that I am wary of as well. I see that Newt Gingrich is now a constitutionalist all of a sudden. He was a key individual in the work to pass NAFTA along with Bill Clinton. He is a member of the CFR. Here is a middle 1990's Birch video on his back ground.

I am also concerned about Glenn Beck. He is really coming out and looking like he has been a Bircher for years. Before the election, he bad mouthed Ron Paul trying to equate his supporters with terrorists. Here is the clip. Now all of the sudden we are to believe that he is freedom's good friend?

He also recently moved from CNN to Fox News. He signed a $50 Million dollar contract with Fox. It is owned by Rupert Murdoch, a CFR member and globalist. We have to ask ourselves if we think that a very high ranking globalist like this would pay $50 million to Glenn Beck to oppose his agenda or is this just another classic case of the globalists trying to create and control their own opposition. I am afraid that it is the latter.

Sean Hannity now saying that, "The conspiracy theorists are right! It is a world government. Imagine that..?" Is this another attempt to draw back some people that are recently neo-conservative thinkers that have had their eyes opened with the economic reality hitting their pocketbooks and the economy?

Limbaugh is talking about the constitution. There are whispers of that faithful document here and there throughout talk radio. Medved, however, has remained the voice of the neo-trotskyite true believers.

The talk radio/Fox news alliance is clearly jockeying to look like the people that created and are operating our movement. All of these men have discredited themselves with at least 50% of the nation. They are working for the elite and are working in concert together to become the right-wing false opposition and to rile up the "left" to keep the nation divided. They are attempting to hijack our freedom movement and misdirect the people involved. This fact need to become widely know throughout the freedom movement.
